

Chloe Jacobson is a Professional Counselor Associate under supervision of:
S. Devoll, LCSW, license # L7423

Education, Training and Experience

I'm Chloe, I use she/her pronouns and am a white, genderqueer, queer art therapist, endemic to this mossy part of the world. I've lived in Southern Oregon, Washington, California, and Colorado. Portland continues to be what home feels like. Art has played a huge role in my survival and my belief in it stems from my own intimate relationship with it.

I hold a B.A. in Visual Art and Psychology from The Evergreen State College, a master's degree, M.A. in Transpersonal Art Therapy and from Naropa University's CACREP-equivalent program, and I am a registered professional counselor associate in the state of Oregon (LPC-A #R7311). I am also a Qualified Mental Health Professional (20-QMHP-R-0902) in the state of Oregon. I work with individuals, relationships, and groups on a wide array of areas including anxiety, depression, life changes and adjustments, PTSD and other trauma healing, minority stress, sexuality and gender affirmative care, sex and relationship concerns.

Philosophy and Approach

I utilize the healing power of present, experiential, creative expression in my transpersonal art therapy practice. I believe in the ability of art (whatever medium) to articulate better than language, and radically hold and express each individual's relative story. While utilizing the art process, I bring a somatic and relational approach all while holding each person's context within a social justice informed container. I bring a person-centered, trauma-informed, queer-feminist lens to all that I do with clients. I also provide gender affirming care based on the World Professional Association for Transgender Health (WPATH) standards of care.

Artwork in Art Therapy: I will hold confidential all artwork you produce in our art therapy sessions and store all copies in a HIPAA compliant confidential folder. I will share your art only with my direct art therapy supervisor for the purpose of receiving quality consultation on your case.

I specialize in working with individuals, couples and groups within queer and trans population through struggles with depression, anxiety, trauma, gender dysphoria, narcissistic abuse, identity, religious recovery, coming out, life transitions, low self-esteem, relationship issues, existentialism, minority stress, and apocalyptic anxiety. I work with adults 18+.

Client-Therapist Relationship

You and your therapist have a professional relationship existing exclusively for therapeutic treatment. This relationship functions most effectively when it remains strictly professional and involves only the therapeutic aspect. Your therapist can best serve your needs by focusing solely on therapy and avoiding any type of social or business relationship. Gifts are not appropriate, nor is any sort of trade of services.

Social Media

Due to the importance of your confidentiality and the importance of minimizing dual relationships, I do not accept friend or contact requests from current or former clients on any social networking site (Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.). I believe that adding clients as friends or contacts on these sites can compromise your confidentiality and our respective privacy. It may also blur the boundaries of our therapeutic relationship. If you have questions about this, please bring them up when we meet and we can talk more about it.
